Imagine...

... walking into your office knowing you are part of a network of like-minded professionals, all striving to help individuals live their best lives. As you enter, the familiar face of the concierge greets you, and the smell of coffee lifts your energy. Already, your first client is waiting comfortably.

You glance around, knowing you have the resources you need — a sensory room to support therapy services, a quiet meeting space where you can consult with health coordinators, an open-plan area where you can exchange ideas with colleagues, and VR (virtual reality) resources to help you deliver seamless service.

You know this is where you can do your best work. And your clients can, too.

What is the Lifestyle Solutions =hub?

A place for allied health professionals, a place for the community

The =hub is a state-of-the-art therapeutic centre thoughtfully designed to meet the needs of allied health professionals as well as the people they serve.

It's a space built for engagement and interaction — provider to client, professional to professional, person to person.

A uniquely tailored space

- Specialised, advanced sensory room available for use with clients
- Light-filled private consultation rooms with ergonomic design, high-speed wi-fi access, ducted air conditioning and purpose-built furnishings
- Dedicated meeting spaces for clients and support coordinators
- Bright open-plan workspace featuring booths for non-confidential work and professional collaboration
- Welcoming, interactive concierge space to direct visitors and clients
- Accessible design with a thoughtful, comfortable layout
- Convenient location near public transportation (50m to tram and 100m to bus) and 500m from the NDIA office

Coming together to deliver better services

The Lifestyle Solutions =hub is a custom-designed centre where clinical and allied health practitioners — including occupational therapists, speech therapists, psychotherapists and other providers — can deliver the best support possible in an innovative, professional and inclusive environment.

In addition to dedicated spaces for clinical use, the =hub promotes collaboration among professional providers too — meaning even better services for the people you work with.

State-of-the-art sensory room

An integral part of the =hub concept is the sensory room, a thoughtfully designed space that offers providers a sensitive, engaging place to help their clients reach their goals.

Positioned next to consultation rooms, the sensory room is easily accessible and provides a valuable tool to help support your clients' needs.

Become a member

Join a collaborative environment focused on outstanding service delivery

The =hub is open to allied health practitioners on a membership basis, meaning it provides outstanding resources for your practice along with flexibility.

Members benefit from:

- An array of spaces for work and service delivery, from dedicated quiet areas and meeting rooms to shared open areas

- A physical environment that is sensitive to clients' needs
- A collaborative community that fosters idea-sharing, referrals and engagement day-to-day and through exclusive member and community events
